MOSSEL BAY WEATHER

In Mossel Bay, the summers are comfortable and dry; the winters are cool and windy, and it is mostly clear all year round. The town's weather is influenced by the Agulhas current of the Indian Ocean to the south, and by the presence of the Outeniqua Mountains to the north.

Over the course of the year, the temperature typically varies from 11°C to 24°C and is rarely below 8°C or above 27°C. Mossel Bay does not experience significant seasonal variation in the frequency of wet days.

Frost is rare or almost absent, while snow may be visible, occasionally on the distant mountain peaks as a winter's treat. Prevailing winds are westerly in winter (May – August) and easterly in summer (September – April), and rarely reach storm- or gale-force strength. The average number of days of sunshine are 320 days per year.

Overall, Mossel Bay has a mild climate, making it a perfect destination for enjoying the range of activities on offer.

ICONS OF THE GREATER MOSSSEL BAY

FRANSMANSHOEK

Shaped to form a peninsula and home to the oldest active conservancy in the Western Cape, Fransmanshoek is known for several of its famous fishing sites. The area (Fransmans meaning Frenchman) got its name from the French man o' war, La Fortune, which sank here in 1763. Enjoy its untouched beaches, picturesque picnic spots and mysterious cloverleaf labyrinth!

FRIEMERSHEIM

Founded by a German missionary in the early 19th century and set up as a mission station, it is home to a Dutch Reformed Church built in 1870 and the founders of the Volkwyn chair. It is well known for its beautiful large wildlife murals, painted by local artist, Fourie Ackermann. By bringing the walls to life, Ackermann has put the area back on the map!

GLENTANA

Glentana was established in the early 20th century and is thought to be named after a type of whiskey brewed in Northern Scotland. This area is known for its shipwreck, a floating dock that belonged to a British steamer that went aground along the Glentana beach in 1902.

GROOT BRAKRIVIER

Built around the lagoon of the serpentine Great Brak River, visitors can enjoy sweeping panoramic views and beautiful, unspoiled beaches. Experience numerous art, cycling, hiking and fragrance routes.

HARTENBOS

Hartenbos was established in 1730 when a ship and her crew were stranded along the shore. A local farmer alerted the authorities of the ship's misfortune and as compensation, the Dutch East India Company granted him a farm, which he called Hart en Bosch (deer and bush). Later, in 1933, the South African Railways and Harbours turned this tract of land into a resort town. This family holiday spot is now known for its iconic jetty, golden beaches and memorable camping spots.

HERBERTSDALE

This historic village was established before the Second Boer War on the farm, Hemelrood, named after the owner, James Benton Herbert. The area is known for its witblits (South African moonshine) and its farmlands.

KLEIN BRAKRIVIER

A seaside resort town at the mouth of the Klein Brak River, with spectacular views of Botlierskop. These mushroom-like rock formations covered in fynbos are a major landmark in the area and are a must-see. Klein Brak River is also known for its blue flag beach and beautiful lagoon.

RUITERBOS

This beautiful, undiscovered valley at the foot of the Robinson Pass between Mossel Bay and Oudtshoorn is known for its quaint shops and farm stalls, scenic drives, hiking trails and 4x4 routes. It is an absolute must-see for bird lovers and fynbos enthusiasts.

DANA BAY

Welcome to Dana Bay, a picturesque seaside village and conservancy, set in the heart of the Cape Floral Kingdom and home to many coastal and limestone varieties of fynbos. It is well known for its incredible bird life and famous for its colony of black oystercatchers. Enjoy kilometres of tranquil, undisturbed white sandy beaches, legendary sunsets and beautiful coastline views. It is the ultimate beach getaway.

CAPE ST BLAZE LIGHTHOUSE

Commissioned in 1864, the Cape St Blaize Lighthouse was erected so that seafarers could find their way to our shores. At this time, Mossel Bay was a popular stop-off point for sailors and soldiers travelling to the East. It has a 20.5m tower built of stone and a revolving light that is visible for 22 sea miles. Up until 1970, it was the last manned lighthouse along the South African coast.

MOSSSEL BAY HARBOUR

Mossel Bay Harbour holds a special place in South African maritime history for being the first recorded place used regularly along the South African coast by European seafarers journeying to the East. It is one of the few natural harbours along the east coast and served the important function of providing shelter to vessels during western storms. The harbour was integral to the development of Mossel Bay and its business sector.

SEAL ISLAND

Seal Island is a nature reserve and home to over 5 000 seals, a variety of birdlife and their natural predator, the great white shark. Visitors can enjoy boat trips to the island. On the way there, be on the lookout for dolphins and whales!

THE DIAZ MUSEUM

Bartolomeu Dias was a Portuguese mariner and explorer. In 1488, he became the first European navigator to round the southern tip of Africa. His first landing place was Mossel Bay. The Bartolomeu Museum Complex in Mossel Bay is home to the replica of Dias' caravel.

THE OLD POST OFFICE TREE

South Africa's postal service began over 500 years ago in 1501 with a letter left in a boot beneath this ancient indigenous milkwood tree located in Mossel Bay. Believed to be the country's very first mailbox, sailors would leave messages here, trusting their countrymen to deliver them to their correct destination. The tree has subsequently become a national monument and can be found on the grounds of the Bartolomeu Dias Museum Complex.

THE POINT OF HUMAN ORIGIN

Experience the awe of visiting the world-renowned archaeological site for early evidence of modern behaviour when you visit the Point of Human Origins, a proposed UNESCO World Heritage Site, and the caves at Cape St Blaize Lighthouse. Step back in time and experience early modern man's realisation of ownership, religion and tradable skills.

THE TOWN'S HOUSE

Originally constructed in 1879 for municipal offices and related services, this building became the town's cultural museum from 1975 until 2001. It is now a beautifully renovated showpiece of local talent, housing art, crafts, gifts, clothing, souvenirs and trinkets for sale.

PERSONAL SAFETY TIPS

Here are some tips on how to stay protected while travelling:

- Take advice from the locals – especially about where it is safe to walk after dark. Avoid walking alone, especially in deserted areas and at lonely look-out points;
- Always keep alert in crowded areas where petty criminals tend to congregate;
- Don't allow strangers to help you at bank teller machines (ATMs) – if you're unsure of what to do, ask for assistance inside the bank. Do not use ATMs in secluded corners or where individuals are loitering;
- Please don't give your money to children or beggars on the streets. If you're moved to help, rather provide food or clothing or buy them a "passport" of stamps that can be exchanged for food, a place to sleep or clothes at the local shelter. Vouchers or stamps are available at a nominal fee at the Tourism Office;
- Mossel Bay does not have authorised car guards. This service is only offered at big shopping malls, as their car parks are private. Please do not tip illegal car guards at beaches or elsewhere;
- Be careful of your belongings. Never leave items unattended that may easily be picked up, such as wallets, mobile phones and cameras. Always keep these close to you, especially in crowded areas.

WHERE MOSSEL BAY GOT ITS NAME

Mossel Bay was first named Bahia or Aquada Sao Bras (Watering Place of Saint Blaize) by Vasco da Gama in 1497. Before that, it was known by Bartholomeu Dias in 1488 as Agra dos Vagueiros, Bay of Herders, which is what he saw in the distance when he arrived in the area.

Commelin wrote in 1646 that the name Mossel Bay had been given by Paulus van Caerden in 1601. Van Caerden gave the following description in his manifest: "Vonden het een schoon landt, sonder veel geboomte, dan wel herten ende Olyphanten, bequaemen, behalven water, weynigh verversings als mosselen, dies het die naem van Mossel Baey gaven."

This translates to: "We found it a lovely land, without many trees, but with deer and elephants. Apart from water, we got little refreshment except for mussels, and therefore gave it the name of Mossel Bay."

MOSSEL BAY IS A TOWN OF MANY FIRSTS

The first evidence of modern human behaviour was discovered in Mossel Bay and dates back approximately 162 000 years.

- 1488: The first evidence of modern human behaviour;
- 1497: The first commercial transaction took place when Vasco da Gama traded with Khoi herders, bartering a red sailor's cap and bracelets for an ox.
- 1501: The first post office in Southern Africa – a letter was left in a sailor's shoe in a Milkwood Tree by Pedro d'Ataide.
- 1501: The first place of Christian worship in Southern Africa – an 'Ermina' was erected by Admiral João da Nova of the fourth Portuguese Fleet in thanksgiving on his safe return journey from India. Admiral da Nova had found the letter left by D'Ataide warning of antagonism in Calcutta and had instead successfully sailed to Malakat.

DIAS MUSEUM COMPLEX

This excellent museum offers insight into Mossel Bay's role as an early stopping ground for European sailors. Named after the 15th-century Portuguese explorer, Bartholomeu Dias, the museum contains the post office tree where sailors left messages for one another, the 1786 Dutch East India Company (Vereenigde Oost-Indische Compagnie; VOC) granary, a small aquarium and a local history museum. The highlight is the replica of the caravel that Dias used on his 1488 voyage of discovery.

GREAT BRAK RIVER MUSEUM

The museum is housed in the "The Old School House" built in 1902 and has a collection of exhibits depicting the lives of the original founding families and their descendants.

Fundamental Photography was introduced in 1839 and Great Brak had the good fortune to have been photographed from its inception. Our large collection of photographs tells the story and development of the village up until today, including the devastating fires and floods. We also have a small collection of San and Khoe artefacts, many of which predate the village founding.

On entry, visitors can watch a 20-minute video about laundry through the ages, and then take in the 640 irons on display, as well as washing machines and implements. Some of the items in the collection are the only remaining examples of their kind. It is a museum well worth visiting, not only for its uniqueness but in appreciation of the evolution of one of the most menial of household chores.

SOUTH AFRICA'S FIRST POST OFFICE

In 1500, Pedro Alvares Cabral (32 years old at the time) was commissioned to follow up the good work of Vasco Da Gama. His large fleet of 13 vessels was scattered by a tornado. Only a few vessels remained. Cabral passed Mossel Bay again on his return journey and was once again hit by a storm. Only six of the original 13 vessels remained in the fleet.

One of Cabral's commanders, a certain Pedro d A'taide, disembarked at Mossel Bay and placed a message and a report of their misfortune and voyage in a sailor's boot that was placed in the large old milkwood tree.

On 7 July 1501, Joao da Nova found the letter left by Pedro D'Ataide in the sailor's boot in the tree near the freshwater spring. Thus, more than 500 years ago, this large tree became the first post office in Southern Africa.

We know the large old "Post Office Tree" to be an indigenous milkwood variety (Sideroxylon Interme) along the coast. These trees are slow-growing and it follows that if this particular tree was conspicuous in 1501, it must be well over 500 years old. It has already been declared a national monument.
